Doctors admit they know that the kids don't understand and thus can't be said to be consenting

"I think the thing you have to remember about kids is that we're often explaining these sorts of things to people who haven't even had biology in high school yet.

"Lots of people have very little medical understanding of stuff like that."

Doctor admits patients don't understand what hormones will do to them

"In general, you know, people want this, but they don't want this, but they want this, but they don't want this from a hormone, and I'm like, well, you know, you might not be binary, but hormones are binary, and so, you know, you can't get a deeper voice without probably a bit of a beard. It doesn't work that way, or you can't, um, you can't, uh, you know, get estrogen to feel more feminine without some breast development. It, that doesn't, that doesn't work very well."

Different doctor says children can't understand because it's "out of their developmental range"

"It's out of their developmental range sometimes to understand the extent to which some of these medical interventions are impacting them."

Doctor says parents don't understand

"But what really disturbs me is when the parents can't tell me what they need to know about a medical intervention that apparently they signed off for"

Doctor admits they don't currently get informed consent

"The more we're going to actually do a real informed consent process than what I think has been currently happening and that I think is frankly not what we need to be doing ethically."
